Joy, James and Jean Frocklage, triplets born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Frocklage of Fort Nelson, B.C., were classed as "cabin baggage" by the airline which flew them home from the hospital in Vancouver. The babies fitted snugly into individual flight bags. Six brothers and sisters impatiently awaited their arrival at Fort Nelson.

Farm Women's Week At O.S.A.

Bright sunshine, a stimulating program and an enthusiastic group of about 100 women combined to make the 30th Annual Farm Women's Week at the Old School of Agriculture and Home Economics a real success.

Throughout the week community singing was directed by Mr. W. C. Kirk of the O.S.A. staff and on the last evening an excellent amateur program was staged by the ladies. Highlights were violin selections by Mrs. Elantraut of Stettler, who at eighty years of age still plays beautifully and a rhythm band trained and directed by Mrs. Townsend of Enskine.

The program for the week included lectures, demonstrations and discussions ranging over a large number of fields - food, clothing, health, photography, draperies, horticulture. Schools of Agriculture and Home Economics, farm records and home appliances.

The guest speaker at the closing banquet was Mrs. D. A. Hansen, a member of the Royal Commission on Education. Her subject was "Roads to Understanding." By comparing education with road building she pointed out problems and fallacies in our thinking about education. Chairman for the banquet was Mrs. Mary L. Roberts of Okendale and a toast to the School and Department of Agriculture was proposed by Mrs. W. Hooper of Red Deer. Mr. W. C. Kirk responded.

Oil Dividend Not Taxable . . .

The oil and gas royalty dividends paid to Alberta residents by the provincial government for the last two years is not taxable, the income tax appeal board has ruled.

The board's ruling, made public here in Calgary, Friday, said:

"A provincial government cannot be said to be in a business; its functions are the governing of a territory and, within well-defined limits, the regulating of the business conducted by the people in it. It is not a profit-making organization per se."

The dividend program was suspended this year. It cost the province an additional income assessment of $20,000,000 in two years. A dividend of $20 was paid to each qualified Albertan in 1957. The scheme's first year of operation. The payment dropped to $17.50 in 1958. The money came from royalties paid the provincial government for oil and natural gas.

"Actually, I think it was more in the nature of a gift or windfall . . . that was as surprising as it was unexpected; the payment was entirely gratuitous," says the judgment issued over the signature of R. S. W. Fordham, a member of the board.

The action was brought by Mrs. Nell German of Calgary. She appealed an additional income assessment of $6.60 imposed because of a $20 royalty dividend.

Hail Suppression Report . . .

The general trend of warm dry weather was continued during the week of July 12th to 25th. However, both Sunday and Monday, the 19th and 20th were days of extreme hail threat.

On Sunday, severe hail was reported in the foothills to the west during the mid-afternoon. Also, hail was reported during the afternoon in an area lying southwest of Three Hills. Reports indicated no damage. South of the area, in the Redwood - Redland district, hail was reported up to 100."

Monday, the 20th of June, developed into a day of extreme threat. By three p.m., hail had been reported from most districts in the hail suppression area but, to date, no reports of damaging hail have been received. All reports indicate soft, small hail. A small area north of the project reported damage up to 90". Varying amounts of rainfall have been reported, with the Swallow - Acme area recording the most at 8 inches.

Again on Tuesday evening, the 21st of July, a storm moved into the project from the northwest. This storm was a minor threat but no reports of hail have been received. It gave rain up to 1/2 inch in some districts.

Precipitation recorded at the Didsbury Hail Suppression office the past week has been 3 inches.

Jamboree Day Not Too Important . . .

The annual Lions-Kinmen Jamboree, held here Wednesday, could not be called an overwhelming success. The crowd was not what had been expected and more attractions were needed to draw in the paying customers.

Due to the heavy rainfall the pony chuck-wagon and stake races, an animated team, came out on top. A little else but baseball to hold the spotlight.

The parade, headed off the day, did produce some fine floats, horse entries and new car and machinery displays that were worth seeing.

Winners in the various categories were not available at press time. The day finished off with bingo games in the arena, followed by a wrap-up dance at Mountain View hall.

AN AID TO WEED CONTROL
CHEMICALS ON FALLOW

Soil drifting was a serious problem in many areas of Western Canada this Spring. It was most destructive on fallow land on which the trash cover had been destroyed either by burning or by excessive tillage. The question arises: is there any practice or practices whereby grain farmers can eliminate weed growth from their summerfallow and still leave enough trash cover to protect the soil?

Mr. D. A. Brown, Assistant Superintendent, Branch Experimental Farm, who is widely known in Western Canada for his excellent research on weeds and their control, as well as for his knowledge of soil problems, has recently released some encouraging information on this subject. For several years, he has been experimenting with various summerfallow methods, including the application of weed-killing chemicals in conjunction with cultivation. Concerning the results, Mr. Brown makes the following statement: "Yields on fallow receiving only 2 cultivations, plus herbicide, have been equal to those in plots maintained by tillage alone". He goes on to say that broad-leaved weeds were controlled with one to two applications of 2,4-D ester at rate ranging from 1/2 to 3 lbs. per acre depending on the kinds of weeds present.

To many farmers the application of such high rates of 2,4-D on fallow may, at first glance, seem to be an expensive method of weed control. However, the time and money saved through reducing the number of cultivations is an important factor. Besides, the additional trash cover left on the field through the use of chemicals is likely to result in the saving of many dollars worth of valuable topsoil.

Try replacing two or three costly cultivations with chemical on your fallow this year. It could save you money, give better weed control and help keep that valuable topsoil from blowing or washing away.

So Now They Tell Us . . .

The income tax appeal board have decided the two dividend "gifts" we received from the provincial government are not taxable. They have decided the "windfall" falls in the exempt category. Now then, how do we go about getting a refund on this untaxable income. A story on this appears elsewhere in this issue.

The Holes Are Still There . . .

While our paved road surfaces continue to defy the weather and remain in top shape, some of the suburban arteries haven't been able to meet the same onslaught and many of them are in horrible condition. Has the town grader broken down? Is there a shortage of gas in the area? Is there no one who can pilot the restless machine over the dips and doodles for a few hours and iron out a few of the wrinkles? Is there any thought in the minds of the town fathers to remedy the situation?

PERENNIAL SOW THISTLE:—These yellow plants with their yellow flowers are coming into bloom now around the country. As we drive around these days we can notice many small patches of these weeds. We see them on fence lines, head lands, pasture fields as well as in grain fields. It seems too bad to let these small patches go to allow them to ripen up to spread more seeds when the remedy to eradicate them is inexpensive and easy to use.

We have proven over and over again as well as having the theory substantiated by many farmers who have tried it on their own, that the best way to rid your farm of perennial thistle sow thistle is to spray them with 2,4-D or MCP Ester. Either one is very effective but MCP is much more kind to the crop.

If you are not concerned with the damage to the crop this is what I would advise you to do: "Borrow or buy yourself a hand operated knapsack or tank type sprayer. Mix 3/4 pint of 2,4-D with 3 gallons of water and thoroughly spray every sow thistle plant with the mixture. The one treatment, if done as described above, when the plants are just coming into bloom, will do an excellent job of controlling this bad weed. It will be much more effective than cutting or picking off the bloom.

I would urge you to be on the alert and watch your fields for any weed patches. Take suitable action when the patch is small and you will be money ahead.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Brotherhood will be a theme dealt with at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Love."

Paul's stand on brotherhood is emphasized in readings from the Bible including this passage from I Corinthians (13:1): "Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no division among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment."

Correlative citations from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy will include (487:9-13): "It should be thoroughly understood that all men have one Mind, one God and Father, one Life, Truth, and Love. Mankind will become perfect in proportion as this fact becomes apparent, war will cease and the true brotherhood of man will be established."

VISUALIZE BIG OIL AND GAS BOOM

When Carl O. Nickle, prominent oil authority of Calgary, addressed the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Publishers' Association in Regina last Friday, he visualized an oil boom in Western Canada lasting a peak by 1980, just twenty years hence, of ten times the present volume. When he spoke of oil he included the natural gas industry within the same radius.

Mr. Nickle has followed Alberta's oil development from the Turner Valley field down through Leduc, Redwater, Pembina and all the present out-lying fields of production. That he has accumulated millions for himself only accentuates his ability to keenly observe the trends of the present day.

It will be interesting for Alberta and Canada in general, if the present economic deficit of three hundred million in oil and gas, is translated into credit balance of one billion dollars a year. Calgary has cashed in on the oil development in Alberta, and nearly all the executive offices of the big companies operating in the province are located in Calgary.

Now a new company is erecting a five million dollar office building for the oil and gas industry, in Calgary. The export of Natural gas from Alberta, which in its present infancy is already a multi-million dollar industry, is practically all directed from Calgary headquarters. Camrose Canadian

LIGHT YOUR WAY ...

... WITH BIBLE STUDY

The only right way. If you do not want to go wrong or be lost, then believe Scripture, which testifies that all men are sinners and that no man living is just in the sight of God. To become just they will have to come so through Christ, the blessed Seed, who was promised to Adam, Abraham, and others as He who would crush the serpent's head and redeem the whole world from the curse. This He has done. He has taken the sin of the whole world upon Himself, has become a curse for us, and in this way has redeemed from the curse all who believe on Him. "Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is everyone that hangeth on a tree: That the blessing of Abraham might come on the Gentiles through Jesus Christ; that we might receive the promise of the Spirit through faith." Galatians 3:13,14.

Such knowledge and faith make a joyous heart which can say with certainty and assurance: I am no longer conscious of any sin, for all of them lie on the shoulders of Christ, and they surely cannot lie on Him and on us at the same time.

ALUMNI REUNION

AT O.S.A.

The 1959 Summer Alumni Reunion of the Olds School of Agriculture and Home Economics on August 7th, shows promise of being one of the best in years. The afternoon will be devoted to tours, and programs for both men and women. This will be followed by a buffet supper and a short business meeting. At the evening program, representatives of the classes being honored on their 25th, 10th and 5th anniversaries will speak.

It is expected that a special speaker of the evening will be Mr. J. Annus McKinnon, a member of the first graduating class, who has recently returned from a trip to Russia. He will be able to give a first hand report.

While the classes of 1934, 1949, and 1954 will be the honored guests of the day, many graduates of other years will take this opportunity to revisit the school.

For today's farming you need the new features of Massey-Ferguson machines

Today new farming methods; new technical developments and new engineering advances bring constant change and improvement in tractors, combines and other farm machines.

Old style machines can't give you the ease of handling and speed you want, they don't have the labour saving features you need and they don't give you the money-making ability to help you farm profitably. Obsolete equipment doesn't have what is needed to meet the demands of farming today.

Move ahead with the latest Massey-Ferguson machines and free yourself of the handicap of trying to farm modern with out of date equipment. Ask your local Massey-Ferguson dealer for full particulars about the latest models.

Market Control Good Or Bad?

The successful agriculture in any country lies in producing the crops the market will buy, and selling them at prices the market will pay.

For many years our Department of Agriculture, both Federal and Provincial, did invaluable work in impressing this fact on the farmers of Canada, and helping to establish Canadian agriculture on a sound and permanent foundation.

They took a leading part in seeking out the crops that suited to our soil and our climate, and most acceptable to the available markets.
They developed better methods of production and found ways of combating frost, drought, rust, weeds, soil erosion, plant diseases, insect pests and all the other ills with which the industry had to contend.

They studied the needs of the markets and established grades and standards that gave Canadian farm products an enviable reputation for dependability in outside markets; and they improved our farmers with the importance of catering to the needs of the markets, of accepting free market prices for their products, and of keeping their operating costs within those prices.

At that time it was the proud boast of Canadian farmers that all they asked was a fair field and no favors, and they would stand on their own feet. They organized and fought monopolies in the marketing of their crops, and they did not attempt to create monopolies if their own.

But during recent years the departments of agriculture seem to have grown weary in well-doing and are directing their efforts away from the free markets and controlling operating costs, and toward controlled markets and controlled prices based on uncontrolled and steadily rising costs.

In encouraging the farmers in this policy the government is rendering them a distinct dis-service.
It is trying to make them independent of the markets on which they should depend, and dependent on the government, on which they should not depend. No private industry could hope to survive such dependence.

There is considerable doubt as to the extent to which the Ministers of Agriculture themselves believe in this new policy. Though he has not said so in as many words, there is plenty of evidence that Federal Minister Harkness is worried about the ultimate result of his price support policy, and whether it will be possible to continue encouraging the farmers the price supports they want without having to impose on them the production controls which they don't want.

The late Thomas L. Kennedy, who was Minister of Agriculture for Ontario during the years when most of the provinces' marketing controls were made law, and who had an uncanny knack of knowing what the farmers were thinking, had second thoughts about the marketing legislation after he returned from active politics, and had time for serious thinking on the matter. In his recently published book he says:

"I think we've gone too far in agricultural controls. Instead of helping the farmer to compete we are regulating him to death. Marketing regulations are supposed to increase prices through quality. But instead of raising quality they tend to lower it. . . I believe marketing schemes should foster good-will in our agricultural world, along with better quality and higher prices.
But marketing that leads to regulational and red-tape bureaucracy will always be resisted by our farm community."

Sir Richard Cartwright once wrote that, in a country like Canada, a minister of the Crown, responsible for the enactment of important legislation should be able to take long rests in some quiet place where he could think things through before committing the country to ill-considered and harmful legislation.

(From Our Own Correspondent)

A letter from Rev. D. M. Taylor indicates that he is beginning the last quarter of study in the School of Theology, Winna Lake, Indiana.
This will complete his residence work on the degree of Master of Arts in Theology. He then has his thesis to complete before he obtains his credentials. We wish him all success. The Taylors will return to the campus the end of August.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eby and Marylin have left for their vacation. They will travel south to Moses Lake, Washington and camp there for a while.

Rev. and Mrs. D. C. Eby and Miss Glady Eby were Friday evening pioneers at the Little Red Deer River, near Elton.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Stauffer left for Cadzow, where they will do further work under the conference in the field of Vacation Bible work.
From here they will go to Gull Lake camp and then conclude their summer's work at Redwater. Miss Ann Snyder and Miss Doreen Ro-sing are at present in Galahad doing the same kind of work and will also continue until the end of August. These young people are all students of the college.

Mr. Wayne Shantz, a student, left for South Dakota last Saturday, driving the car for his mother, who is attending the Golden Wedding Anniversary of her parents. Rev.
Ray Shantz was unable to go.

The ladies of the church were busily engaged in canning fruit for the Gull Lake Youth Camp. This always requires a great deal of preparation, and Mrs. Maynard Snyder usually makes the needed arrangements for the work to be done. This camp opens next Monday and will continue throughout the week. Another camp for young folk will continue the week following.

Guest Editorial

PRESCRIPTION FOR PUBLICITY

What form of publicity provides the greatest benefit to a town? We think the answer lies with the business and professional men.

If people get good treatment and good service at what they consider to be fair prices, they will throng to that town.

On the other hand if people are shabbily treated and are not provided with a wide range of services at reasonable prices, they will avoid that town.

The enterprising spirit of business and professional men also helps in a town's growth. We see evidence of this in our town through the activity of service clubs, lodges and other civic groups.

A town should have good churches which contribute to the religious life of a wider community.

A town should have good schools for the training and educating of children. Such is a matter of major importance.

Cultural life should not be neglected; neither should sports and entertainment. Such activities round out a town's contribution to a much enlarged population.

There are other factors which tend to develop a town. One of them we weekly observe, is a good newspaper.

WEDDINGS

FALKINGHAM — HANSEN

Bouquets of summer flowers and arch ways with bells and candlebuns formed the setting for a lovely candlelight wedding in Saskatoon, second street United Church, July 18th, when Miss Viola Hansen (formerly of Didsbury district) and Norman Falkingham were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony by Rev. B. Leyes.

The bride, radiant, entered the church on the arm of her father, carrying a cascade of crimson happiness roses. Her dress, a traditional floor length gown, bell shaped of imported hand clipped chantilly lace with scalloped hemline and a wistaria scalloped chapel train carried by Denis Leyes and Kenneth Klassen. The empire waist accented with velvet ribbon, the scoop neckline fully scalloped with short sleeves and matching full length scalloped sleeves. The train was an all rhinestone crown, with a flowing full circular scalloped laced edged veil waist length, in pure silk imported English illusion. Her only accessory was a pearl necklace, gift of the groom.

Her attendants were Miss Beryl Fox and Miss Jennie Leyes, each gown in pale blue nylon ballerina length frocks with matching head piece and carrying bouquets of white roses and lily of the valleys.

Joyce Roberts as flower girl was also dressed in pale blue nylon, carrying a basket of mixed summer flowers.

Barry Joannette, ring bearer and cousin of the groom carried a nylon lace heart shaped pillow decorated with red roses and streamers. The soloist was Polly Lappa and organist, Reuben Peterson.

Best men were M. David Rued, Jacob Schmidt, Kenneth MacAmmond.

Mr. Kenneth Leyes and Mrs. David Schmidt were ushers; candlelighters were Sharon and Barbara Greenman, cousins of the groom. A large reception was held in the beautifully decorated church parlor, where Mrs. Lena Swenson, aunt of the groom, presided at the register. The toast to the bride was given by Rev. Douglas Roberts, to which the groom very interestingly responded, relating highlights of their romance.

Following the reception, the bride dressed in a two-piece linen suit with white accessories with a corsage of red roses. The honeymooners left for Eastern Canada where the happy couple will reside.
